Basin Boundaries

Summary

The Tulare Lake Subbasin is located in the southern part of the San Joaquin Valley Groundwater Basin in the internally drained portion of the Valley where surface water under natural conditions would flow to the terminal Tulare Lake. The northern boundary of the Subbasin generally follows the South Fork of the King's River, with the eastern boundary following various county and agency boundaries. The southern boundary of the Subbasin generally follows the Kings-Kern county line. The western boundary of the Subbasin follows the Kettleman Hills and the Westlands Water District boundary. The basin boundary is defined by 21 segments as detailed in descriptions below.
